

Contents

|                                                                                                   |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Preface .....                                                                              | 3   |
| JÁN BAKYTA                                                                                        |     |
| Die Langdiphthonge im Altgriechischen (mit einem Ausblick auf das Urindogermanische) ..... | 5   |
| DAVIDE BERTOCCI                                                                                   |     |
| Survivings of the *-eH<sub>1</sub>- stative morphology in Umbrian and Latin .....          | 14  |
| JAN BIČOVSKÝ                                                                                      |     |
| Satemization as a conditioned push-chain-shift .....                                       | 29  |
| VÁCLAV BLAŽEK, IRÉN HEGEDŰS                                                                       |     |
| On the position of Nuristani within Indo-Iranian .....                                     | 40  |
| IOANA COSTA                                                                                       |     |
| A Dacian deictic? .....                                                                    | 67  |
| JÓN AXEL HARÐARSON                                                                                |     |
| Zum thematischen Optativ im Urindogermanischen und einigen seiner Tochtersprachen .....    | 72  |
| MÁTÉ ITTZÉS                                                                                       |     |
| Initial y in the Rigveda .....                                                             | 86  |
| JAY H. JASANOFF                                                                                   |     |
| Did Hittite have si-imperatives? .....                                                     | 116 |
| GÖTZ KEYDANA                                                                                      |     |
| Brugmann's Law and the role of perception in sound change .....                            | 133 |
| RONALD KIM                                                                                        |     |
| The PIE thematic animate accusative plural revisited .....                                 | 144 |
| MARTIN KÜMMEL                                                                                     |     |
| The Distribution of roots ending in IE *ND .....                                           | 159 |
| ALEXANDER LUBOTSKY                                                                                |     |
| Dissimilatory loss of 'i' in Sanskrit .....                                                | 177 |
| ROSEMARIE LÜHR                                                                                    |     |
| The structure of nominal paradigms in Indo-European languages .....                        | 182 |

|                                                                                                             |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| GERHARD MEISER                                                                                              |     |
| Saturnus – Herr der Zeit .....                                                                       | 197 |
| H. CRAIG MELCHERT                                                                                           |     |
| Luvo-Lycian Dorsal Stops Revisited .....                                                             | 206 |
| BILIANA MIHAYLOVA                                                                                           |     |
| On the Reflex of Word Initial RHV- in Greek .....                                                    | 219 |
| NORBERT OETTINGER                                                                                           |     |
| Zur Frage der Rekonstruktion des Urgriechischenund anderer Protosprachen .....                  | 222 |
| GEORGES-JEAN PINAULT                                                                                        |     |
| Sound laws and the suffix of the PIE 'middle' participle .....                                       | 227 |
| CORINNA SCHEUNGRABER                                                                                        |     |
| Wurzelauslautvariationen bei westgermanischen Nasal infixverben .....                                | 252 |
| ROMAN SUKAČ                                                                                                 |     |
| Bifurcation of PIE *CVD(C) syllabic structure in Balto-Slavic and Latin .....                        | 265 |
| ONDŘEJ ŠEFČÍK                                                                                               |     |
| On the integration of Old Indo-Aryan voiceless aspirates into the system .....                       | 271 |
| ELENA TRIANTAFILIS                                                                                          |     |
| Negative (nē, nī, nei...) particles between Latin and Indo-European:morphological remarks ..... | 281 |
| TOMASZ WIŚNIEWSKI                                                                                           |     |
| Two divergent features of Northern West Slavic:*ärH- distinct from *ra-, unrounded äN .....     | 291 |
| ROGER D. WOODARD                                                                                            |     |
| Labiovelar Development in Greek and an Alphabetic Repercussion .....                                 | 299 |